Vorwort

„Aber was ist denn dann mit den Ferntrompeten?“ Das ist oftmals die erste Reaktion auf die Ankündigung einer Bearbeitung des Requiem von Giuseppe Verdi für kleines Orchester. Diese Sorge ist allerdings unbegründet, da sich die vorliegende Version ganz nach Belieben mit oder ohne Ferntrompeten aufführen lässt.

Die Keimzelle zur Messa da Requiem bildet das Libera me, welches Verdi schon fünf Jahre vor der Uraufführung des ganzen Werkes komponierte, und zwar als Teil einer Gemeinschaftskomposition zusammen mit den seinerzeit zwölf bedeutendsten italienischen Komponisten. Es handelte sich hierbei um eine Totenmesse zu Ehren des im Jahr 1868 verstorbenen Gioachino Rossini. Allerdings kam dieses Werk damals nicht zur Aufführung und geriet lange in Vergessenheit.

Nach dem Tode des von Verdi hochverehrten Dichters Alessandro Manzoni im Jahr 1873 griff Verdi den Requiem-Stoff erneut auf und schuf ein in sieben Teile gegliedertes vollständiges Werk:

1. Requiem und Kyrie
2. Dies irae (bestehend aus zehn Abschnitten)
3. Offertorium
4. Sanctus und Benedictus
5. Agnus Dei
6. Lux aeterna
7. Libera me

Die Uraufführung fand am 22. Mai 1874 unter Leitung des Komponisten mit einem vierköpfigen Solistenensemble sowie 120 Choristen und 110 Orchestermusikern in der Mailänder Domkirche San Marco statt.

Bei einem modernen Orchester mit 110 Musizierenden würden heutzutage selbst 120 Choristen nicht mehr reichen. Für eine ausgewogene Balance bedürfte es da eines noch größeren Chores. Mit der vorliegenden Bearbeitung für Kammerorchester können nun auch Chöre geringerer Stärke und solche mit begrenzten räumlichen oder finanziellen Möglichkeiten dieses Werk aufführen. Durch die Reduzierung vor allem der sinfonischen Bläserbesetzung wird das Klangvolumen zurückgenommen. Die Besetzung mit sieben unterschiedlichen Bläsern (Flöte, Oboe, Klarinette, Fagott, Horn, Trompete und Posaune) garantiert zusammen mit den Streichern, der Pauke und der Großen Trommel eine hohe dynamische Bandbreite und klangliche Differenziertheit.

Die vier Ferntrompeten können entweder wie im Original besetzt, auf zwei Trompeten reduziert oder auch weggelassen werden. Die entsprechenden Stellen im Tuba mirum sind mit Ossia-Passagen für die Orchesterbläser eingerichtet, sodass diese bei einer Aufführung ohne Ferntrompeten deren Noten übernehmen.

Während der Hauptteil des Arrangements in den Bläserstimmen geschah, spielen die Streicher fast das Gleiche wie in der Originalfassung. Es gibt folgende wenige Abweichungen:

Nr. 2	T. 74, 78	Violoncello: Halbe Note B (statt Halbe Pause)
	T. 82	Violoncello: Halbe Note c (statt Halbe Pause)
	T. 86	Violoncello: Halbe Note d (statt Halbe Pause)
	T. 438–440	Divisi im Violoncello, wobei die untere Stimme den Kontrabass verdoppelt.
Nr. 3	T. 63–85	Violine I: nur eine (statt zwei) Solo-Violen
Nr. 4	T. 26	Violoncello, 2. Takthälften: Viertelpause, Achtelnoten B , c (statt Halbe Pause)
	T. 27	Violoncello, Zählzeit 1: Viertelnote d (statt Viertelpause)

Die Partien von Pauken und Großer Trommel wurden unverändert übernommen. Die Paukenstimme des Aufführungsmaterials enthält Vorschläge zur Ausführung auf Pedalpauken.

Hornstellen im Bassschlüssel folgen der modernen Schreibweise, d. h. sie klingen eine Quinte tiefer als notiert.

Sämtliche Vokalpartien (Soli und Chor) sind mit der Originalfassung identisch, sodass Klavierauszüge, Chorpartituren und Übehilfen der eingeführten Carus-Ausgabe verwendet werden können.

Foreword

"But then what about the distant trumpets?" This is often the first reaction to the idea of arranging Giuseppe Verdi's Requiem for small orchestra. It is a concern that is unfounded, however, as the present version can be performed with or without distant trumpets according to preference.

The nucleus of the Messa da Requiem is the Libera me, which Verdi composed five years before the premiere of the entire work, as part of a joint composition with the twelve leading Italian composers of the time. It was a funeral mass in honor of Gioachino Rossini, who had died in 1868. However, this work was not performed at the time and was long forgotten.

After the death of the poet Alessandro Manzoni, who was highly esteemed by Verdi, in 1873, Verdi took up the requiem material again and composed a complete work divided into seven parts:

1. Requiem and Kyrie
2. Dies irae (consisting of ten sections)
3. Offertory
4. Sanctus and Benedictus
5. Agnus Dei
6. Lux aeterna
7. Libera me

The first performance took place on May 22, 1874 under the direction of the composer, featuring a four-person soloist ensemble along with 120 choir singers and 110 orchestral musicians, in the San Marco church in Milan.

With a modern orchestra consisting of 110 musicians, even 120 choir singers would no longer be sufficient today. An even larger choir would be needed in order to achieve a satisfactory balance. With the present arrangement for chamber orchestra, smaller choirs and those with limited spatial or financial possibilities are now also able to perform this work. By scaling down the wind instrumentation in particular, the sound volume is reduced. The scoring consisting of seven different wind instruments (flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, horn, trumpet, and trombone) together with the strings, timpani, and bass drum ensures a wide dynamic range as well as tonal diversity and nuance.

The four distant trumpets can either be included as in the original, reduced to two trumpets, or omitted. The pertinent sections in the Tuba mirum are furnished with ossia passages for the orchestral winds, so that they play the notes of the distant trumpets in a performance without the latter.

While the main part of the arrangement is in the wind parts, the strings play almost the same as in the original version. There are a few divergences as follows:

No. 2 mm. 74, 78	cello: half note B-flat (instead of half rest)
m. 82	cello: half note c (instead of half rest)
m. 86	cello: half note d (instead of half rest)
mm. 438–440	divisi in the cello, with the lower part doubling the double bass
No. 3 mm. 63–85	violin I: only one (instead of two) solo violins
No. 4 m. 26	cello, 2nd half of the measure: quarter rest, eighth notes B-flat , c (instead of half rest)
m. 27	cello, beat 1: quarter note d (instead of quarter rest)

The timpani and bass drum parts are unchanged. The timpani part of the performance material contains suggestions for performing on pedal timpani.

Horn passages in the bass clef follow modern notation, i.e. they sound a fifth lower than notated.

All vocal parts (solos and choir) are identical with the original version, so that the piano reductions, choral scores, and practice aids from the Carus edition of the above can be used.

The musical score consists of ten staves of music. The top five staves include woodwind instruments (Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, Bassoon, Horn) and brass instruments (Trombone, Tromba, Tuba). The bottom five staves include vocal parts (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass, Double Bass) and a timpani part. The vocal parts sing Latin lyrics. Large white graphic markings, including a stylized 'S' and 'C', are overlaid on the staves, particularly around the vocal parts. Dynamics such as 'pp' (pianissimo) and 'dolcissimo' are indicated. Measure numbers 331 are at the top left.
